We distribute a wide range of training and educational products to human resources and training departments, universities and colleges, corporations and other institutions, libraries, business and resource centres, as well as individual entrepreneurs and business owners.

Recession Busters:

Our main product categories are well suited to those organizations and individuals affected by the current recession. Organizations are ensuring that their training efforts are cost effective. Many individuals are obtaining additional training to prepare for alternative or future careers. Others are starting a new business. And even more are anxious about retaining their existing jobs or are actively seeking employment. We have a large number of products which address the subjects of training, starting a business, and job search, job retention, and career development. Please see below for details.
